Don't Worry – Love the Earth by Marco Poganik

The people of the modern age, alienated from the essence of our beloved planet, believe that the Earth is endangering our lives. On the one hand they feel guilty for the ecological destruction humans are causing. On the other hand people fear the consequences of our civilisation's insensitivity to the life organism of the Earth.

Neither is right! Instead of bouncing between the feelings of guilt and fear, a change in the personal relationship to the Earth is needed. Accept that we human beings are part of the Earth, also part of her heart-consciousness. What we do, she is doing. She has no other hands to create upon the Earth's surface, than ours. Even the destruction of the environment can be understood in a positive way, as a means, for example, of producing the necessary urgency for change. We are urged to change. Our civilisation has to move towards a greater wholeness, true freedom, towards a quantum leap in consciousness.

See how it is possible to collaborate with the ongoing Earth Changes instead of projecting a negative stamp on them. If the Earth is getting warmer day by day, we should also open our heart-consciousness and become warmer in our relationships towards each other, towards beings of nature, towards ourselves. Raise the heat of your heart and the heat of the planet will be revealed in its full meaning, enabling us and other beings of the Earth to make a quantum leap in our evolution!

Look to where you can help to move away the obstacles on the path of change and transmutation. These may be obstacles on your individual path, obstacles created by the human fearful thought forms, or by the means of environmental destruction (I specifically mean the ones that damage the subtle etheric and emotional levels of life).

Marko Poganik is a Slovenian artist, sculptor and geomancer and lecturer at the Hagia Chora School of Geomancy. He leads seminars in earth healing internationally and offers an opportunity to engage with these ideas during his visit to Hawkwood College, Stroud 6 – 14 August 2008 through a series of lectures, workshops and courses. ## Eco-housing Community Project by Jaya and John Shepherd

Would you like to join a group who want to build an eco-co-housing centre? The likely area would be Somerset or Wiltshire but other locations could be considered.

The concept of eco friendly communities is gaining momentum with many beginning to emerge across the UK. Starting another would be exciting, challenging and ultimately rewarding and we are looking for residents of all ages; families with children, middle aged and older people who would all have different strengths and talents to offer in the general running of the community.

Members would have their own individual dwellings, 1, 2, 3 or 4 bedrooms built to eco specification aiming at zero carbon emissions. We would like to have a common house for gatherings and to use as a healing and arts centre. Large items such as washing machines and cars could be shared. Self sufficient in energy, we would have a garden for vegetables preferably to sell as well as having plenty for ourselves.

We are currently considering the best way forward in terms of finding a site; possibly through the purchase of a house with some land where we could build and / or some outbuildings which could be converted into dwellings. If you might be interested in joining us or wish engage in an initial discussion please telephone John or Jaya Shepherd on 01225 834335 or 0845 330 7930 or email jayajcs222@yahoo.co.uk. Please pass this message on to anyone else who you think might be interested.

Book Review: Take Me to Truth; Undoing the Ego by Nouk Sanchez and Tomas Vieira

A book in which the authors offer a profound and practical road map to undoing the only block we have that keeps us from experiencing consistent peace, love and joy. They describe the challenge we all face which is the uninvestigated 'me' also known as the ego.

It is a false-self that's plagued by intermittent fears, relationship break-ups, financial difficulties and ill-health, and its mantra is 'seek and do not find.' Take Me to Truth arose from the authors' sincere commitment to live out (over 17 years) the principles outlined in A Course in Miracles. They are a divorced couple who are living examples of the power of Quantum Forgiveness. The result is this revealing guide to the six stages of spiritual awakening. Take Me to Truth will pierce the fog of self delusion... are you ready? For further information about the book, log on to <http://takemetotruth.com>. ## Book Review: The Bond Code by Philip Gardiner

The stories of James Bond are not just popular spy thrillers. This is the remarkable tale of how Ian Fleming and his associations with the world of the occult actually led him to create a masterful series of clever clues, ciphers and codes within his novels, revealing a sacred truth discovered whilst searching for his own inner harmony.

The words and concepts may sound strange to the reader, such as alchemy and gnosis, but in this book we will reveal their truths in a simple and step by step approach. In fact, the codes within will even make people radically reappraise books such as the Da Vinci Code.

Unravelling The Bond Code, we will look into the etymology of the very names and words used. For example the sacred numerological significance of the number 007 and how that other number given to Bond, 7777, by Ian Fleming also has a numerological meaning. Other numerological codes exist such as Magic 44 and we will even show how he named his own retreat, Goldeneye, after certain occult terms. The location was known as Oracabessa and this too has occult references.

The Bond Code shows how the Bond books and films are modern day fairy tales working in the same way as the medieval tales of the Holy Grail or Robin Hood and which contain gnostic codes picked up and understood by Ian Fleming.
