The Art of Being by Corrina Harrison

The great question of our time is who are we and what is the purpose of our lives? It is the question that will confront us all at some point, for we are the human generation on the Earth that straddles a 26,000 year cycle of time; with one foot in the old Piscean age and the other in the new age of Aquarius.

The nature the transition requires us to cope with changes to our physical environment, however the great challenge of grappling with change is esoteric an inner journey of growth and the unfolding of a new higher consciousness. Our human challenge is to reach out beyond our physicality, and join with those higher aspects of the soul or higher self. In doing so we start experiencing ourselves at a new level; experiencing ourselves back to our being, back to our core essence. We do this with part of us in the physical and part of us in the ethereal and as we strive to touch with our inner being (our soul connection) we connect with all things; animal, mineral and vegetable. We expand our being to become the entirety of the universe.

Given the physicality of our environment one might easily believe that we are nothing more than physical beings and our tendency is to project our awareness and energy in to the material and physical. As our human energetic vibration changes resist dissipating all your attention and energy on outward focus, instead start focussing on the esoteric self. We are all part of this external world, but rather than just experiencing it with the mind we must also experience it with our hearts and our whole being.

Ask yourself what is present in the here and now, what is present in every word and action you make and the consequences of your actions towards others and the Earth combined. This in itself represents a process of spiritual growth and re-birth. Using the mind to question one's self in this way can turn a simple form of just being, to a form of intensity that has no wrong answer, it is an idea or belief of "who am I?" that takes us to a place of blankness and a conception of our whole being, where we turn our attention inward and where we feel need to reach a place of knowing where one feels there is a sense of lacking.

As we become more sensitive to energy and connect with the great ocean of universal consciousness it becomes more important to be in that place of knowing within yourself. We need to focus at ourselves from a place of not looking then the answers become clearer.

Not knowing is actually the way to be. To question shows another aspect of our whole being and the great thing is that there is no final thing or experience for everything is infinite, providing us with the potential for unlimited growth, unlimited experience. Our experiences provide us with knowings, but these are temporary and it is the not knowing that becomes the truth.

Not knowing is all part of the ascension of ourselves, a realisation of our presence on this Earth and how we can make a difference no matter how big or small. The domain of being is the domain of who you are and have always been.

The being who has grown up and not grown down, the you that is not immature or mature, the you that is not an adult or a child or an adolescent, the you that you really are, a point of light and love on the compass of the universe. Use the intuition of just being yourself, your true self. Only consciousness exists in the nothingness and without form we would resonate as our true essence

Being is being empty of content and images, it is empty of self references and ego and our being is always right in our minds and bodies. Being is just about being your true self always a being of purity that is dimension. Not being is always asking through thought and images.

Remember that you just are! Be the love inside you and bring that essence to the fore, for this is you, your pure being. Be the dimensional being within and without form and do not question "who am I" but rather say "I am me, therefore I AM". This is the art of being.

Book Review: Countdown to Coherence by Hazel Courteney

Countdown to Coherence, is a highly entertaining spiritual journey towards a scientific theory of everything – in which the author discovers why leading edge scientists believe that consciousness is counting itself back towards coherence, a state of ‘oneness,’ and why attaining brain coherence would enable us all to affect ‘miracles’. She includes fascinating facts and theories on the growing belief that we exist inside a pre-programmed simulator; what came before the Big Bang, time travel, multiple universes, spontaneous healing, survival of consciousness, reincarnation, how thoughts create physical outcomes, as well as how it’s possible in scientific terms for objects to store information – which sensitive men and women can retrieve, hundreds or even thousands of years later. For further information call Pavel Mikoloski on 0785 537 3601 or Vicki Hartley on 07792 879 348.
