The Unity Theory of Space and Time, Matter and Light. A new paradigm for a new age

By Dr Grahame Blackwell

(A new view of the physics of material reality as published in the peer-reviewed scientific & technical journal 'Kybernetes', April 2011)

A radically new scientific theory of space and time? Why? Who needs it? Pretty well everyone, it seems.

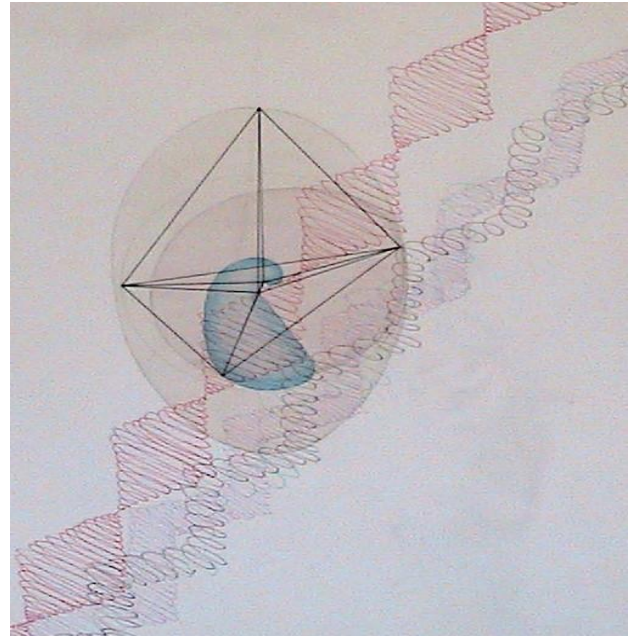

It's been an interesting few months for cutting-edge physics. First Fermilab, CERN's friendly rival in the USA, reported a probable sighting of a totally new particle that would rule out the existence of the Higgs boson, the elusive 'God particle' that's reckoned to be responsible for mass and inertia. CERN physicist and media star Brian Cox declared that, if confirmed, this would mean "RIP Standard Model".

The Standard Model (SM) is the set of principles and equations that describes the understanding of reality that's guided physicists for the past hundred years or so. Ditching the SM would mean ripping up all the textbooks and starting from scratch with a totally new theory. So rumours of 'Higgs sightings' at both CERN and Fermilab shortly afterwards brought sighs of relief all round.

For about two days. A major conference at the end of July brought news that, to the contrary, possible existence of the Higgs had been conclusively ruled out in 90% of the area in which it had to exist. This was followed in August by the revelation that the concept of supersymmetry, accepted and taught for two decades as an integral part of the SM, is almost certainly also unfounded.

And then, on 22nd September, the bombshell: the Italian OPERA project, in conjunction with CERN, has consistently over three years detected particles moving faster than the speed of light – news that sent the global physics community into a flat spin. Whilst as always independent confirmation is needed, increasing numbers of leading scientists are talking of the need for a new theory to replace the SM.

With rather less fanfare, but possibly at least as much significance in the longer term, a paper was published in a peer-reviewed mainstream journal in April this year giving the basis for just such a new theory. It offers a rationale for mass and inertia that has no need for the Higgs boson and it rules out the notion of the speed of light being absolute as claimed by Relativity Theory.

More than this, it offers full mathematical derivations of all experimentally confirmed aspects of Special Relativity.

More yet, the theory put forward by this paper provides a clear rationale for the mechanisms responsible for gravitation, how it is that "Matter tells space how to curve and curved space tells matter how to move" (John Wheeler).

Significantly, this theory doesn't include the feature that seems to be the cause of the conflict between Relativity Theory and Quantum Theory in high-energy situations such as black holes. Equally significantly it does explicitly include consciousness, on scientific grounds, as an active element in the universal process (as highlighted from a different angle by noted quantum physicist Henry Stapp in his book 'Mindful Universe').

One major point to note about The Unity Theory is that it most assuredly does not throw the baby out with the bathwater. On the contrary it presents a fusion of well-proven principles from Relativity and Quantum Mechanics, enhanced by a radically new perspective to provide a strong coherent base for serious well-informed future science.

This new theory will be unveiled, including a detailed description of the principles of gravitational effects, at a presentation to the Wessex Research Group Totnes branch on 30th October. Details of the April paper, and of the presentation at an international conference in Brazil that covered a number of features of The Unity Theory, can be found at www.ihs.ac

Book Review: The Dawn of the Goddess

By Gordon Strong

The Age of Kings is over. The Goddess has decreed that a queen will rise and rule The Six Great Kingdoms. Before this age of joy and peace may come about one great and final battle must be won. Can Paldarch the Wizard restore The Sword of Pengyron to its rightful heir? Only with this enchanted weapon can the young monarch Huwan Brynan be victorious over the forces of darkness.

Our noble hero and king must know enlightenment, experience love and sadness and realise the eternal power of magic, before he is worthy of leading the knights of his realm to a great victory.

The theme of Ascendancy of the Female is absolute in the progress of mankind and our own civilisation. Only through the advancing of a consciousness that embraces, peace, love and understanding can the world survive its present dilemma. These essential virtues are embodied in The Goddess – Mother Earth - The Queen of Heaven. For
