Introducing Altheris - A blended group of 144 Universal Energies

By Simon Rowe

Altheris is the name of a blended group of 144 highly evolved Universal Energies who are making themselves available to humanity at this time of transition. This group of energies known as Altheris are not leaders, rulers, or masters. They are simply facilitators, or shepherds if you like; that help in times of transition, moving energy from one dimension to another

It is the mission of the Global Heart Summit to facilitate the unification of spirit and shift the Human Race from the 3rd to the 4th dimensional way of living. Long has the 3rd dimension been creating, gathering and allowing the duality of existence, that of Ego to run riot amongst the material world. The Ego has its role to play as an energy that keeps the energetic 'physical-ness' of the human body functioning and capable of the facilitating the Soul energy experience of imbalance.

The time is upon us, as a race of people to stand up, to understand what we really are, not the divided self, the individual that thinks of itself somewhere between a success and a failure and compensates accordingly, though to think of the Self as the only Self, as the Source of all things, through which the vast energy field of the universe flows freely and uninterrupted.

In the Ego is contained a unique and historical account of the record of Mankind and its progression to this very moment. There are those that have manifested, experienced and departed back to The One Energy. There are also those amongst us that are deeply recognisable as 'The One Energy'.

The goal for each individual and for humanity as a collective is to move away from a life of pain and suffering here on Earth towards a more loving and harmonious way of living; one where we are able to live in harmony and through our developed sense of compassion; caring about each other at a local, national and global level whilst loving and respecting the planet we live on. We are being asked to birth a humanity that has no boundaries and is unified, living in love and peace.

One of the things humanity has to do is to work together in a more evolved way, using existing structures but working together for each other for the betterment of itself and the Earth. We are talking about placing service and compassion central to our thinking rather than competing with each other, we are talking about sharing resources and technology for the benefit of the 'whole' as opposed to the use of by 'a few'.

One way forward is the idea of a Global Heart Summit, a Unification of Humanity and Spirit; a coming together, a melding and fortification of all the worlds traditions, not simply just of religions, though also that of politics, of art, of gender, of culture, of creed, of language, of all that exists in the mind of the human where there is a barrier between one belief and another. The Global Heart is here to remove that barrier, to open the flood gate to the only possibility that is the reality of now, the Great and Undivided Oneness of Being. There is only one being. There is only one You, and you are a part, a fragment, an aspect of the vast openness, that 'Isness', that 'Thatness', before which there is nothing, after which there is nothing, only that which exists here in this very unique 'Nowness'.

From the mouth of the separated lamb comes a cry for the Mother to save it from the wolf. The mother responds and guides her new born back to the safety of the one flock. So does Altheris respond to that of Mankind, to lead you safely to a higher dimension. For further information about Altheris and the Global Heart Summit log on to www.vibrantsouls.com

The Wonders of Peru

By Lloyd Pie

Back in 1993, when I was much younger I visited Peru. Without exaggeration, I can say that it was one of the seminal experiences of my life. I was simply astounded every day, when a new "miracle" would be presented to us for consideration and debate.

How could it be that such a primitive culture as the Incas could create such fantastic stone edifices and structures? It seemed impossible to me then, and it remains impossible to me now.

20 years later I plan to return. Having devoted much of my life researching the origins of the Star Child I am looking forward to seeing the newly famous "conehead" skulls of Paracas. These are skulls that contain fully twice the cranial capacity of humans of today! Who were these people? How could they be so radically different from humans? Can they even be considered humans?

Peru also hosts other great wonders; the massive stoneworks of Sacsayhauaman, and Ollantaytambo, the gigantic figures drawn on the desert floor at Nazca, and the incredible stones of Ica which appear to show ancient history depicted in great detail, including scenes of humans and dinosaurs living in proximity!

If like me you are captivated by such things, I invite you to join me on what I hope will be the adventure of a lifetime my return trip to South America. For further information I can be contacted at lloydpye@gmail.com

Installing "Guardians of the Gates" for Your Home

By Christan Hummel

Just as the energetic gateways of communities and countries are important, of equal importance are the gateways of our homes and gardens, and the energetic "gatekeepers" that stand watch over them.

One can hardly pass a garden these days without seeing a statue of St. Francis, Buddha, Quan Yin or another religious figure installed there. Perhaps unknowingly, the owners have created a "guardian" of their property by installing such figures. Despite the country, religion or culture, as you begin to look for them, you will find these "guardians of the gates" wherever you go.

Gateways of all types are important to the energy flow of a property and a home. Many of the temple builders throughout the world understood the importance of these gateways, and consequently often installed temple guardians at the gateways to the property or building. Perhaps the most famous and obvious temple guardians are those found guarding the Egyptian temples. Hovering up to 50 feet tall in some cases, these "guardians" surely would have intimidated any who entered.

In the Christian churches and Cathedrals, one finds Mother Mary or Archangel Michael standing watch over the temple gates. When entering Indian homes there are often elaborate mandala's on the ground at the entry way.

In China, the lion is the traditional temple guardian, holding a specific symbol, the Flower of Life, in his paw. In India, the doorways are protected with sacred symbols that act as the temple "guardians" transforming any harmful energy before they are permitted to enter the temple. In the Jewish tradition, the mezuzah, a scroll with biblical passages on one side and a name of God on the other, is attached to doorways of houses and temples to "initiate" those who enter the property.

Associated with each of these figures there is a devic being that will obey the intentions of its owner. Symbols too can be used in this manner. You can use any symbol that has significance to you.

When installing your own "guardians of the gate," be sure to acknowledge them whenever you pass by, as the energetic "Guardians" behind the idol or symbols respond to your attention.
